Category:Video hardware Category:Microsoft peripheralsDerivatization for the comprehensive two-dimensional gas chromatographic analysis of phenylalkanoic acids in fish oil. A new method for the derivatization of free phenylalkanoic acids is described for the comprehensive two-dimensional gas chromatographic (GCxGC) analysis of fish oil. The method involves the addition of N,O-bis(trimethylsilyl)trifluoroacetamide (BSTFA) containing 1% trimethylchlorosilane (TMCS) to the samples followed by a reflux step and analysis on a GCxGC system. The new method is compared with a previously published method that is based on the direct addition of BSTFA to the samples. Furthermore, derivatized samples are compared with the corresponding methyl esters for the measurement of phenylpropanoic acids. The method has been applied to the analysis of fish oils extracted from red drum (Sciaenops ocellatus) and bluefin (Pseudopleuronectes americanus) tunas. Both methods gave comparable quantitative results, although there was a larger variation in the concentration of phen 2d92ce491b
