First of all the feel of it is very minimalistic but also really clean. The player is simple and straightforward but also extremely customizable and they know how to use touch gestures. There are a lot of nice little extras like sleep timer that also can be set in different time units. And of course the music library is massive and of high quality. For people who are on the go it has a handy feature to mark the song as muted which also sets the player to muted. The lyrics are optional but they are also great. There is an excellent user interface as well and there is also a lot of fine-tuning you can do to get it to your liking. I think this is a nice app that works for both iOS and Android.
