KEYMACRO is a powerful software for use with the Windows operating system. It consists of two parts: a "switcher" and a "puffer." The puffer switches text, executes macros, and sends text by itself. The switcher uses a "keyboard" and an "external keyboard." It sends texts from the keyboard to the puffer and receives texts from the puffer. It can read all the text on the keyboard, but cannot change it. It can also read and send typed text to the external keyboard. You can also use the external keyboard to write text. To use this, you must "download the macros," which you can save and use later. The "switcher" can be turned on/off in the settings, and there is a mode that allows you to use the keyboard as a mouse. If you have any keyboard problems, you can also choose to use an external keyboard. The program comes in three versions: the full version, which lets you download macros, execute macros, and send text to the keyboard; the keyboard version, which lets you use the keyboard as a mouse; and the free version, which doesn't allow you to download macros. You can use the keyMACRO program by activating its settings. Then, you can download and store macros in the folder that is already open, or you can use the external keyboard and mouse to write the macros. You can create macros for Windows. You can also edit macros that are already stored in the program. There is a lot of control for macros, so you can edit all the settings at once or do it one by one. There are a lot of settings for text on the keyboard. You can also use the keyboard as a mouse. The keyboard will be the left mouse key, and the right mouse key will be the Shift button. You can use this program for Windows with a keyboard. The puffer can be turned on/off, and you can edit its settings. You can read the settings for the program and can also change them. You can also download the macros. You can see what macros the puffer has, and you can save macros that you want to have. If you want to, you can also send and receive messages with the puffer. You can also use the external keyboard to send/receive text to the puffer and receive text from the puffer. You can also use the external keyboard to write text to the keyboard.
