Images are a simple way to make an image of text. The result can be used in many places and via many applications. Images are simple to create, and very portable. Unlike many other image editors, Text Images doesn't depend on external programs or graphics files to make images. Text Images allows you to set the font, style, background, and margins. You can also set the text or background color, or add images that will be used to show the text. This way you can prepare a document with a few lines of text on several pages, converting them to images and transferring to other places (for instance a website). In addition, Text Images has a number of other features. You can add a texture for your text, make it thinner, change the box it's in, and insert an image to show the text as a picture (or other kind of). Furthermore, you can create multiple images from the same text, set their size and format, and use them wherever you want. You can preview your text images in real time, and make adjustments as you like.
