The following article gives a short historical introduction to the German Ministry of Health in the past, particularly taking account of its different forms of organisation. A parallel is made to the present organisation of the Federal Ministry of Health (Germany) in the Federal Republic. The difference in the present organisation is pointed out with regard to the board of the Ministers for Health (currently a new institution), the amount of competences, and the responsibility for administration and planning.

Q: Label height based on content height in UILabel I have a custom UILabel, and I need to set the height of the UILabel based on its content height, if the content height is 0 I don't want any label. And I need to display some text with height 0. I have tried this: `[_label setContentCompressionResistancePriority:UILayoutPriorityDefaultHigh forAxis:UILayoutConstraintAxisHorizontal]; [_label.numberOfLines = 0]; [_label.contentMode = UIViewContentModeRedraw]; [_label.text = @"Some text"];` and it displays height 0 and no longer changes when I change the content of the UILabel. A: You can do it a little easier by just getting the size of the label then the height you want is just: `[_label sizeThatFits:CG`
