January 26, 2016 â€” What are tire treads? The rubber on the tires has a grooved pattern that helps them grip the road they drive on. Traction is influenced by ... how the tire pattern interacts with the road. When there is too much tread grooves, they cause the tires to slide on the road, which can cause accidents. When there is too little tread grooves, they cause insufficient traction, which can also lead to an accident. Since some tire manufacturers have a policy against the use of treads that do not meet the requirements, these treads are also called tread protectors.
