fans of the NFL, or even college football, these versatile crackers can go a long way with the right toppings. Because the game day approach has evolved over the years, to include food and beverages well beyond beer, crackers now also go with cocktails like the “Hooter Girl,” which features Stolli® Vodka, lime juice, and 7-Up®. Or try a must-try cocktail, known as the “Bat-Fish,” a hearty mix of gin, lime, and cranberry juice, served in a martini glass. Crackers also go well with our favorite “traditional” beverage, water, which is cold and refreshing and requires no alcohol. Are you a cracker fiend?

Here’s a recipe that will make up to 50 regular or mini crackers. Be sure to keep the recipe big enough to feed your family, and use as many walnuts as the recipe calls for. We like roasted almonds, but other nuts like pecans, peanuts and even dried cranberries would work well. Best of all, these crackers will hold up well if you want to serve them with a dip or spread at the party. Make up the recipe ahead of time, and store the mixture in the fridge until you're ready to use it. Bake just before serving. How to Make Walnut Crackers

1. Preheat oven to 450 degrees F.
2. Combine flour and baking powder in a large bowl.
3. Blend together melted butter and sugar, then add eggs and vanilla. Mix well.
4. Stir in the dry ingredients and walnuts. Knead the dough with your hands a couple of times until well mixed.
5. Divide the dough
