Ultra-Prompter is a PC teleprompter that works as a speech-to-text converter, reading text from the screen and delivering it to the speech synthesizer. It consists of a teleprompter software and a microphone that needs to be connected to the computer's sound card. After the installation, the text of the current window is automatically loaded to the preview table, from where it is processed and delivered to the synthesizer in real time. Ultra-Prompter is a simple yet really effective tool that should be taken into consideration if you need to quickly convert text to speech and vice versa. Ultra-Prompter's main function is to bring the necessary and sufficient features for speech-to-text conversion. You can easily change the default sound card and microphone, switch to dual screen mode, change the text composition style (bold, underlined, italic), adjust the brightness, enable the VTS character filtering, as well as enable the mirror mode. You can use the standard Undo, Cut, Copy and Paste functions, perform a file status check or save the current text to any file in the appropriate format. Ultimate-Prompter's default settings can be found in the application's Help file. It can be opened and saved from the program's main menu. Ultra-Prompter [Mac/Win]

Ultra-Prompter is a straightforward application that works as a PC teleprompter, bringing you the necessary and suffice elements for reading text from the screen. It addresses all types of users, even the ones with minimal background in software tools. After a brief and uneventful installation procedure that does not require user intervention, you are welcomed by a standard window with a simple layout. The background of the teleprompter is black, containing white text. By default, the help guided is displayed, so you can dive right into it. You can create a new file and write text just as in a traditional word processing program. As far as the font goes, you can switch to black-on-white text mode, change the font type and size, enable mirror mode, apply text emphasis effects (Bold, Italic, Underline) and set the alignment. It is also possible to use the standard Undo, Cut, Copy and Paste functions, view current file properties in the status bar, switch to dual-screen mode, test the talent monitor, save the text to file or print it, as well as save the settings for further projects. While scrolling the text document, you can change the speed, pause it, modify the scrolling direction, as well as return to editor mode, by using some keyboard shortcuts which are displayed in the Help file. Unfortunately, they cannot be reconfigured. We have noticed a minimal CPU and system memory consumption during Ultra-Prompter's runtime. The tool has a good response time and works smoothly, without making the OS hang, crash or show error notifications. However, Ultra-Prompter has not been updated for a pretty long time, and this is probably why the keyboard commands during the text scrolling do not work properly on newer Windows editions. Advanced Text Reader is a free text viewer that displays any text file in multiple fonts, layouts, colors, transparent backgrounds, or in a colorized monochrome text version. The application is a part of the Intelligent Text Viewer package, along with a menu that includes a toolbar and a visual indicator of the file encoding and additional properties. You can also highlight, copy, edit, and paste text using the mouse or keyboard shortcuts. Advanced Text Reader is written in MFC, and it is available in English. Advanced Text Reader is a freeware text viewer that supports a variety of viewing options. It can display.txt or.rtf files in multiple font types, layouts, colors, or transparent backgrounds.
