----- Secu-Viewer is a utility that will help you view the content of a SecuRec password-protected disc. You will not be able to save the contents of the disk after you have viewed the content. Secu-Viewer is a handy and easy-to-use application that can be useful if you need to copy some of the files to your hard disk, but only if the disk is password-protected. Secu-Viewer features include: * options to view all the contents of the SecuRec disk, view the contents of a particular file, or find a particular file on the disk * the ability to choose to view a particular file type * the ability to save the file to your computer as a *.txt file * the ability to view all the files without making any modifications to the disk structure * the ability to set the default path where the files will be saved to * the ability to choose to view the contents of files using two modes: - as an image of the contents - as text of the contents * a user-friendly interface, with visual cues and easily accessible buttons. Secu-Viewer instructions: When you first run Secu-Viewer you will be asked to enter the password that was used when encrypting the file(s) on the disk. If the password is not correct or is not set, Secu-Viewer will not be able to function properly. Once you have entered the correct password, you will be asked to confirm it. For each file that you are viewing on the disk, you will see the name of the file, the file size, and the type of the file. You will also see the last time the file was modified, and the permission information of the file. The last column lists the type of protection that was applied to the files on the disk. You may find that many files on the disk do not have any protection applied, and this column will list 'None'. You can choose to view the contents of a file in two ways: - in an image that shows the contents of the disk's file - in text that shows the contents of the disk's file To view the contents of the file, click on the corresponding file name in the file list. The file name is also shown when you click on the column on the file list that corresponds to the file name. There is a button labeled 'View' next
