I sketched it from memory and from a photo of Pan on my desk here. I tried to capture some of the imagery from his brief appearance in the film by making the

'crowns' of the bears skulls, the crows claws and the fire torch his. I'd been saying for awhile that I was going to put together a collection of my character designs for the WB films with the underlying undercurrent of a comic book. This is the first - in a few years. I think it's more fun to do a collection rather than a back issue, but I could be wrong about that. Modal resonances for mass loaded impedance cylindrical shells. The scattering from a mass loaded cylindrical shell is studied in terms of the orthogonal and nonorthogonal wave expansion method. The mass loading is assumed to be strongly localized near the surfaces of the shell. Introducing an impedance tube that connects the outer surface of the shell with the external medium, the system impedance is represented by two transmission coefficients. The orthogonal wave expansion is used to compute the scattering coefficients of the shell. For the scattering from a lossy cylinder, it is
