A lateral flow immunochromatographic assay (LFA) for the detection of IgG antibodies against the cytoplasmic domain of CD2 molecule was evaluated by use of two affinity-purified recombinant human monoclonal antibodies (mAb 1 and mAb 2). The CD2 Ag was included in both the primary and secondary antigens. Serum samples were diluted as required for the assay and applied to the test sample pads. The test line result was recorded as positive or negative by a finger or using a digital camera.
