I have tried to change the settings to.Q: How to initialize all image's data to 0.0f in PyTorch? I want to initialize my image's data to 0.0f. In PyTorch, at least, I can do this: torch.zeros(dims=[2, 3, 5, 5], bias=0, dtype=torch.float32) I feel this is too slow, because it will create a lot of new FloatTensor objects. There are so many datatypes in PyTorch, what's the correct syntax to initialize all data? A: You want to pass a NoneTensor to torch.zeros: torch.zeros(dims=[2, 3, 5, 5], bias=None, dtype=torch.float32) This will create a single tensor, as you expect. As a bonus, you can specify the batch size via the second argument to torch.zeros. Q: Where to get a login and password for a FQDN? Where can I get a login and password for a dns:FQDN? I am trying to configure a FQDN for our server(s), but I cannot get the login and password. A: If you want login to Windows DNS you must use the *nix style nix://. The format of the address is www.network.com. FQ
